Cigarettes 20 for 10¢

NOTE—Cigarettes and loose duty are proper enough—but they don't make a cigarette any better. That's why a smoker who buys a 3¢ package of cigarettes of this foreign-grown tobacco doesn't get 3¢ worth of quality—over 10¢ out of the 3¢ goes for ocean freight and import duty. That's the waste. Now, with Piedmonts there's no waste—they pay no duty, because they're Virginia tobacco, grown right here in the U.S.A. 10¢ Piedmonts cost and do give you better quality!

BEARD IS LOUIS'S, BUT VOICE MAY BE VOICE OF WILFRID

Jacob-Esau Puzzle Finds Parallel Here in Graveure-Douthitt Case.

GRAVEURE INDIGNANT.

Belgian Baritone Sure of Own Identity, but Won't Tell of His Past.

Everybody along musical Broadway seems to know with absolute certainty the name of Eleanor Painter's new husband except Miss Painter. The dainty actress admitted to-day before leaving for a honeymoon trip to the Maine woods that of course everybody would know that little detail of her marriage except herself, and she was quite sure she didn't care about it. Her manner, however, was quite the last word in disdain and sarcasm.

"I would like to meet those people who are saying my husband is Wilfrid Douthitt," Miss Painter said. "and I would just find out what it is all about. I knew Mr. Douthitt very well before he went off to the war. I knew my husband, Mr. Graveure, long before I met Mr. Douthitt. I met him in Berlin in 1911. I can't see any resemblance in the two men."

Many friends of Mr. Douthitt, however, say they cannot see any difference except a beard between Wilfrid Douthitt, the English baritone who went off to join the French army last fall, and Louis Graveure, who describes himself as a Belgian baritone, and who came here about six months after Mr. Douthitt disappeared. Since leaving for France Mr. Douthitt has not been heard from.

"Wilfrid Douthitt studied under me for four years and lived in my home during all that time," said Mrs. Clara Novello Davies, the English voice culturist, who is most emphatic.

ENGLISH DOUTHITT OR BELGIAN GRAVEURE, WHICH IS THE SINGER?

In declaring that M. Graveure is really Douthitt, "He was my son's companion during those years. He was sent to me by Dr. Lloyd, Carru's physician in London. I have letters here from his father, J. R. Douthitt, a builder of No. 63 Tregent Road, South Kensington, London, S. W."

"I gave Wilfrid Douthitt three lessons a day for four years and I know that Louis Graveure is really Wilfrid. I went to his concert, studied his every move and gesture, and I know he recognized me. I cannot, and none of Douthitt's friends can, understand why he has adopted this course of action and why the report of his enlistment in the French army was circulated."

Miss Sybil Vane, who studied with Douthitt, was equally emphatic in declaring that M. Graveure was Douthitt with a beard. Both women were indignant that Graveure was received with military honors and a reception by the British soldiers at Toronto, when he went there as a Belgian.

The physical resemblance of Douthitt and Graveure is remarkable. The long and pointed beard of the latter and the monocle he wears is the only noticeable point of difference. Their careers, such as is known of them, seem to be very much the same, and there are many peculiarities of their handwriting which seem to be alike.

Miss Painter's brother, Earle V. Painter, of No. 346 Linden Avenue, Flatbush, said he first met Graveure in South Africa in 1910. Graveure says himself he was in Maritzburg, South Africa, at the time, and a programme shows that Wilfrid Douthitt sang there in the same year.

"I am really M. Graveure and none other," Miss Painter's husband said to-day, and to lend emphasis to his statement he wrote it out so that it could be compared with Douthitt's handwriting. "I was born in Brussels and studied in Paris and Berlin. I met Miss Painter in Berlin in 1911."

"No, I will not say anything about my teachers or my appearance abroad. I preferred to come into this country without a reputation. I do not know who this man Douthitt is, but I wish he could get back from the war and clear up this trouble for me. At the proper time I may discuss my past career, but not at this time. I am happy as long as I know Miss Painter has confidence in me."

In an effort to explain the mystery, Mrs. Davies stated that Wilfrid Douthitt was given to the study of occultism and the theory of reincarnation, and had often spoken of changing his personality and of having his body tenanted by the spirit of a great singer of the past. Graveure said he was not a Theosophist, but said that he had beliefs tending in that direction. He would not explain his theory, however, and laughingly denied that his views had led him into an attempt to completely change his personality.

PANAMA CANAL DEFENSE WEAK, SAYS REX BEACH

Foreign Fleet Could Easily Bombard Forts, Declares Novelist, Back From Visit to Canal Zone.

Uncle Sam's notion that he had doubled the strength of his navy when he built the Panama Canal is a mere delusion, in the opinion of Rex Beach, novelist. Mr. Beach returned here this morning on the Metopon, after three months in and around the Canal Zone. He said he believed a hostile fleet could lie beyond the range of the canal defense forts and bombard them with ease.

The most interesting portion of the novelist's trip was his visit to the San Blas Islands, the isolated, almost uninhabited, islands which inhabit the islands and shore in the Gulf of San Blas on the north coast of Panama. These powerful aborigines have successfully defied incursion by either white men or neighboring natives. They are suspicious and warlike, but Beach and his party finally won their permission to penetrate a short distance into their country.

"They are a fine, clean, strong, moral people," said the writer, "and they are wonderful swimmers and boatmen. The women hold such a strong position in the tribe that when a man marries, he goes to live with his wife's family, instead of taking her to a home of his own. It is the paradise of the mother-in-law. She has complete supervision of the home."

5,000 PAINTERS BACK AT WORK FOR $5 A DAY

Increase in Wages Is 12½ Per Cent.—Some Employers Still Refuse Advance.

Of the 12,000 painters who have been on strike, 5,000 went to work to-day at the rate of $5 a day, a 12½ per cent. increase. The union officials predicted 5,000 more would be at work by the end of the week. The employers of the rest have refused to consider the advance.

The District Council of the International Carpenters' Union, meeting in Fifty-ninth Street, near Third Avenue to-day, confirmed the action of the local union in repudiating the compromise effected by National President Hutchins Saturday and standing out for 70 cents an hour for a nine hour day. The employers' association threatens to ask the national organization to expel the local unions.

In the garment industry, fifteen small employers signed the scale to-day, giving renewed employment to about 200 workers.

President Ben Schlesinger of the International Ladies Garment Makers received a telegram to-day from the convention of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, which is not a member of the American Federation of Labor, pledging its moral and financial support to the strike.

OLD MAN HIT BY AUTO LEFT DYING IN ROAD

Detectives Told That Car Which Sped Away From Victim Held Party of Five.

An old man found at Eastern Parkway and Washington Avenue, Brooklyn, with a fractured skull, was identified early to-day by his nephew as James Gleason, sixty years old, a caretaker, whose present address his relatives do not know. He is expected to die, and a detective watches beside his cot in St. John's Hospital to question him if he becomes conscious.

Two men in an automobile found him last night. Detectives heard that a touring car containing four or five men and women passengers struck him and sped away. His nephew, who lives at No. 59 West One Hundred and Third Street, was found through a slip of paper in Gleason's pocket.

IT COST ELEVATOR BOY $5 TO DEFY DETECTIVES

He Refuses to Take Them Up to Make Arrest in Apartment and Lands in Court.

Detectives Finan and Reilly went to the apartment house at No. 100 Cathedral Parkway at 7 o'clock this morning with a warrant for the arrest of Russell Guip, who is accused of being a member of a gang which has made a business of robbing coin boxes in telephone booths. In the lower hallway of the apartment house they encountered William Shoy, a negro elevator man.

"We are detectives," said Finan. "We have a warrant for the arrest of Russell Guip. Take us up to his apartment."

Shoy made a dive for the telephone switchboard, but Reilly grabbed him. Then Shoy refused to run the elevator. Reilly put him in the car and sat on him, while Finan manipulated it to the proper floor, rang the bell of Guip's apartment, entered and arrested him. Shoy was also arrested, charged with interfering with an officer.

Magistrate Barrio fined Shoy $5 in the West Side Police Court. Guip was held for examination.

A Boy's Opportunity to Earn a Man's Income

AND it is pleasant work, too, requires little effort, after school hours, or during your spare moments in the evening.

Sounds easy, and IS easy — to earn REAL money—a substantial income that can be pyramided to positively BIG figures — measured, in fact, only by your AMBITION.

It's a BIG boy's chance—not necessarily a big boy physically, but ANY boy with BIG ambitions.

ARE YOU THE BOY? If you feel that you are, here is your opportunity!

We want a limited number of boys LIKE YOU AT ONCE!

We want you to represent Deutsch-Amerika—that is, act as our agent, supplying copies of our popular illustrated German weekly and obtaining yearly subscriptions.

It's easy, pleasant work, for invariably every German in this broad land is enthusiastically pleased to become a subscriber, once he has seen a copy of the publication.

Deutsch-Amerika sells for 5¢ per copy. One year's subscription costs $2.50. It's easy to sell one copy every week to every German in your vicinity, and just as easy to get these readers to become regular subscribers.

For every subscriber you get at $2.50 per year, you earn FIFTY CENTS.

Now, if you obtain ONLY ten of these subscribers within one month, we pay you a SALARY of $2.50, in addition to the fifty cents you earn on each and every subscription.

Thus, for this slight effort, you receive $7.50.

Don't you think you can get more than ten subscriptions per month? Of course you do!

And, of course, if you succeed in doing so, you succeed in having us pay you a considerably LARGER SALARY.

For instance, if you send us 15 subscriptions within one month, your salary is increased to $4.00, and, adding the fifty cents you get on each subscription, you have earned, altogether $11.50.

If you are a REAL little business man, you'll want to earn even more than $11.50 in one month, and you can, MOST CERTAINLY!

It all depends on YOURSELF! If you can get 15 subscriptions, you can easily double and quadruple this number, and, as we said, your salary is INCREASED proportionately, up to $50.00 for 100 subscriptions, which, adding the fifty cents you get for each subscription, makes your total earnings for these 100 subscriptions, $100.

There ARE boys who can earn this sum of money, we feel sure. Maybe YOU are the boy!

Write us and we will send you full particulars.
